PRESENT MEMORIAL TO SUPREME COURT

RESOLUTION PREPARED BY ROCK COUNTY ATTORNEYS ON DEATH OF CAPTAIN NORCROSS.

IS FITTING TRIBUTE

Life of Well Known Janesville Citizen Is Reviewed and His Fine Qualities Praised.

A resolution prepared by a committee of the Rock County Bar Association on the death of the late Captain Pliny Norcross was presented today at the opening of the September term of the circuit court. It will be signed upon the records as a fitting tribute to one of the state's ablest attorneys and finest citizens. The resolution, which was drawn up by John M. Chilcote, M. D. Mous, and P. C. Burpee, reads as follows:

May It Please the Court: The Rock County Bar Association appointed a committee to prepare and present to you a memorial to the late Captain Pliny Norcross, who was accidentally drowned in the mill race at Janesville, Sunday, July 11, 1915. In behalf of the committee, I present the following and ask that it be made a part of the permanent records of the court:

Pliny Norcross was born in the town of Templeton, Worcester county, Massachusetts, November 16th, 1838. His father was Franklin Norcross, a farmer and lumberman, and his mother Lydia Powers, both of Puritan stock. The family came to Wisconsin and settled at La Grange, Walworth county, in 1852. The father died in 1876. Pliny attended Milton Academy for two years and then entered the State University. His student days were abruptly ended the following spring by the outbreak of the civil war. He enlisted April 16th, 1861, in Company K of the First Wisconsin Infantry, under Captain Lucius Fairchild, the first university student to go to the front. He served three years as captain of Company K of the Thirtieth Wisconsin Infantry. Two of his brothers served with him, one dying at the front.

Captain Norcross married Phoebe A. Poole of Rock county, on January 4th, 1865. They had four children: Frederick F. John V., Elizabeth L. and Edward P. Mrs. Norcross and her two older sons and the husband of the daughter, George A. Mason, are lawyers; the youngest son is a physician. All reside in Chicago. Mrs. Frances Spaulding Reddington of Troy, Pennsylvania, who survives him. There are also several grandchildren and two sisters.

Partner of Judge Bennett. After the war Captain Norcross engaged in the practice of law in Janesville, and was for a time the partner of the late Judge John R. Bennett, then for a short time of the late Hon. A. A. Jackson, and for a number of years of the late Judge R. Dunwiddie. Impaired health led him to retire from practice over thirty years ago and engage in commercial pursuits, and with the change came a very real physical energy. He erected the first electric light plant in Janesville, and one of the first in the state. He had also an interest in a flour and feed mill and a shoe factory. He was part owner of the Janesville water power and he owned and developed the power at Indian Ford. A few years ago he sold his principal interests in Janesville and hereafter took life more comfortably, spending his winters in Florida.

Captain Norcross twice served as mayor of Janesville. He was a member of the state legislatures of 1887, 1888, 1895 and 1907. He was department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1904-5. Governor Davidson named him as a member of the Board of University Regents.

The professional career of Captain Norcross ended before any of the committee entered upon the practice and before any of your honors had come upon this bench; but we of the committee have known him and enjoyed his friendship and such was his prominence in the state that he was doubtless well known to all of your honors. In his time he was a busy lawyer. He was city attorney of Janesville and district attorney of Rock county. He built up a lucrative professional business and had such success in his commercial enterprises that when he retired from business he had ample means for his declining years.

Was an Able Attorney. His contemporaries of the Rock County bar whom a few years ago in practice, attribute to him unusual qualities as an advocate. His early life, the normal period of preparation for a professional career was broken up by his service in the army, and it is said that he never acquired the habits of a close student; but his natural gifts as an orator, his keen business judgment, his intellectual activity, his sound integrity and above all his tireless industry, were such that he was able to succeed where even better read lawyers failed. His career was a successful one and honorable. It is understood that he declined two attractive professional opportunities to leave Janesville, one to become a United States territorial judge in the west, and the other to become a partner in a Milwaukee law firm.

Captain Norcross had a winning personality. Young men were drawn to him. He was a man of few words in his family life; both marriages were most felicitous. When financial difficulties in business harassed him, and a source of unfailing comfort and cheer in his wife and children. In the legislature, Captain Norcross was a recognized leader. He was successful in attendance and kept himself so well informed as to pending legislation that he was always ready to debate upon the floor or in committee.

Alert and Public-Spirited. Captain Norcross was public-spirited and alert to promote every interest of his city, county, state and country. In politics he was always an active Republican, his zeal for his party prompted him, without waiting to be solicited, to offer his services as a speaker and to make liberal gifts in support of new campaigns. His department commander he attended camp fires and reunions all over the state and spread good cheer far and wide among his comrades. He often attended the national encampment. He had a wide acquaintance among public men within and without the state, and was intimate with many who were recognized as leaders of their day.

We have spoken of Captain Norcross rather as a man, as a citizen, and as a public leader, than as a member of the bar. He was devoted to his profession while he followed it. That he had to give it up was a source of constant regret. Captain Norcross was reared in the faith of the Congregational Church of Janesville. A vast course of citizens attended the funeral in the church. The local post of the G. A. R. had the services in charge. The casket was draped in the flag of the Union. Rev. David Beaton, a former pastor and warm personal friend, spoke of him as a man of large and varied interests throughout his entire life. In his youth he left his studies to be a soldier in the Army of the Republic. He was an efficient commanding officer. He was an industrious lawyer. He held public office, both local and state, always with distinction. He was a successful manufacturer. In all these useful activities he merited and received the esteem and commendation of the people.

TWO SECTION HOUSES DESTROYED BY FIRE

Bunk House and Small Station Burned to Ground on Grand Avenue Last Evening.—Signal Wires Affected.

Over two thousand feet of hose were laid by the fire department last evening between six and seven o'clock to respond to the call for water. A section house and a bunk house were destroyed by a fire which broke out in the crossing of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. So crippled were the firemen by the length of the lead of hose and from the fact that there is no water main in this district, that it was fully a half an hour before water could be obtained with which to check the blaze.

The fire starting in the bunk house had obtained a serious start before the old water pumping engine was started. The fire broke out on the east side of the Montgomery bridge and the pumps started. In the section house was a motor section car and a huge can of gasoline and other railroad equipment and these were taken out by a Northwestern employe before the blaze had communicated to the section station. When water was finally forced up the lead of hose the fire had topped over the station and the bunk house was gutted. Just the frame of the converted car was saved. The most damage caused by the fire was the burning and damaging of the section wires which operate the block signal system of the Northwestern railroad. The wires run directly overhead the buildings which burned and all were out of commission last night. Repairs were being made this morning. The signal system was not working all the way from Janesville to Clinton and possibly to Harvard today, but one wire, the common, goes direct to Harvard, the next signal supply station.

The fire is said to have been started by an Italian who applied a match to an over-amount of gasoline in starting a stove fire. There were seven section workmen living in the car and all sought shelter elsewhere last night. Most of their personal belongings were saved.

Property owners along Grand avenue and throughout this district expressed in mild terms condemnation of the fact that there is no good fire protection in this district. For quite a large section there are no water mains or hydrants and in case of a serious fire, the district would be endangered.

"Suppose one of these houses caught fire and there was a high wind at the time," said one of the residents, "every one of these houses would be burned up, and we have all been paying taxes."

On the other hand it is estimated it would cost at least fifteen thousand dollars to construct a water main system to this district by the city and rental and maintenance costs would be at least twelve hundred dollars a year.

The pumping engine was drawn to the fire by the motor truck and once started the veteran pump threw a fair stream of water considering the extreme long lead of hose. Thousands of feet of hose were used. The engine was first turned in, people gained the impression from the heavy smoke and fire mounting into the sky, that the Wisconsin School for the Blind was on fire. It was necessary to cut the hose twice to allow passenger trains to pass. Had the fire been a serious one the firemen could have held up the trains.

ANOTHER WEEK AND BADGER FOOTBALL MEN IN TRAINING

Badgers to Have a Strong Line With Weak Backfield—Prospects at Purdue.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]—Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—About thirty candidates for the 1915 University of Wisconsin football team will report here for their first unofficial workout one week from today. They come in response to letters sent out by Coach H. H. Hooton. When the conference practice season opens on Sept. 26, the coach expects a squad of at least 75 to report daily.

Early in the fall, a dedicated Wisconsin line will be sorted out in the same position as last year—third in the Big Nine championship fight. Minnesota is regarded here as a slight favorite over the champion Illinois team. Wisconsin is picked to fight it out with Chicago for this place.

Ex-Captain Ray Keeler, Frank Belows and Tom Kennedy, who graduated last spring, will be sorely missed. The line will end just about in the same position as last year. The backfield is an unknown quantity. Alvin Mucks, Captain Hark, "Nipper" Gauder, Gunner, McMaster, Rosenberg and Starnum look like the best men for line positions.

In the backfield, there is plenty of mediocre material and a few men that promised to develop into stars. The quarterback position will be contested for by Simpson and McCoomby, with the edge in favor of the latter because of greater experience. For the half back jobs there are Dow, Evers, Cummings, Smith and Clark. Fullback is open since Al Kraus went out this year. Captain Howard Cook today said that the Badgers should not be counted out of the race before it is started. That reports of some of the best men being barred scholastically are for the most part unfounded. He said at most there are not more than four or five who are not eligible.

The 1915 Wisconsin schedule is favorable to the development of a championship contender. The early season games promise just enough competition for the title struggle with Chicago, Illinois and Minnesota the last month.

Purdue Starts.—Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 14.—All 47 Purdue candidates for the 1915 varsity assembled on Stuart Field today for the first time this year. Coach Smith called it the best squad he has had since coming to the Lafayette school. Conference rules prevented the coach from doing more than give the squad the once over. He will take charge of it on September 20. On that date, Capt. Blocker will have charge of the daily workouts.

It was to be noted today that in one thing Purdue is not going to be surpassed by any member of the Big Nine—that was beef and brawn. The four candidates for the two guard positions—Arbuckle, Jordan, Proud and Mason—weighed in this afternoon at an average of 195 pounds. Other candidates for the line are Oser, Sherridan, Coley, Mackintosh, Montgomery, Longnecker and Dickson. The most promising candidates for halfbacks are Abrell and Van Aken. Burns and Bechner are believed to stand the best chance for berths at tackle. Eldridge, Pierre and Olmstead, ends of last year's squad, will be given a chance as regulars this year.

The season will open on October 2 with Wabash at Lafayette. Another small school is taken on the following Saturday with Beloit on Stetson field. The Wisconsin game here October 15 is expected to be the hardest on the Purdue card. If the Boilermakers can win this game, the first Big Nine contest of the season, it is believed that Purdue will occupy a higher place in the conference standing than she has for many years.

Low Weight for Showing.—Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul fighter, who the majority of papers declare to have been outpointed by Pacifier McFarland, was in Chicago a few minutes yesterday, en route to his home. "I honestly believe I beat Pacifier, for he never hit me except with his open glove and not a blow hurt me," said the pliant. The weight of 147 bothered me, for I was weak and could not fight with my usual speed. For days before the fight I was forced to live on tea and toast without water, and the worry of making weight and rigors of training told on me. I will never make 147 pounds again for anybody and hereafter it will be middleweights that I will fight."

Rutgers and Princeton are the original football rivals in the 1915 game making us it, the forty-seventh year since the two institutions first met. Rutgers won the first game back in the '60's and has never won since, but is after this year's game for fair.

DOUBLE BEATING IS WATERLOO FOR SOX

Boston Red Sox and Braves Prove Too Much for Chicago Teams Monday—How They Stand in Race.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]—Boston, Mass., Sept. 14.—The Red Sox gained half a lap on the Detroit Tigers yesterday and the Chicago White Sox dropped out of sight as far as pennant chances are concerned for the fighting and scrappy Red Sox yesterday licked the Chicago club twice by the scores of 2 to 1 and 4 to 1. Weakness with the stick cost the Sox the games, for the Rowlands made a grand total of six hits in the two games. Eddie Murphy made half of them. Leonard and his left-handed stuff was good enough to stop the Sox in the first game, although Jim Scott would have given him a run had he been afforded decent support.

Three errors in the seventh paved the way to defeat for the Sox, for the Red Sox were only one run to good and Scott was holding them. Shore pitched the second encounter, which was all over in the second inning, when Red Faber handed the Boston clippers three runs almost without assistance. Before that round was over Cicotte was called to the mound and worked the rest of the game in a tight fashion. It looked like a mistake on Manager Evers' part to send Faber to the mound. The organized horning and cheering was a subject of protest by the Sox. Two more games will end the series and the Sox have dropped three straight to Boston. Buck Weaver had a bad day, booting many, and was "booted" by all the fans.

Braves Rout.—The Boston combination in both leagues proved too much for Chicago, as the Braves routed the Cubs yesterday by the score of 5 to 4. The winners got their runs on only four hits and the reason for the victory was that they had their heads up, alert on offense and careful on the defense. Johnny Evers was the hero to do the trick and they turned out some wonderful plays and in the seventh inning turned the tide. The Braves at that time were leading by one run and the Cubs had two out. Bob Fischer hit one that ought to have done the business, but Evers speared the hit. Evers got Zimmerman and Bresnahan canned from the mound on a slide to third when the umpire called the Boston captain safe. Barnes and Hughes pitched for the Braves and Adams and Zabel for the Chicago team.

The leaders in both major leagues were victorious on Monday, allowing their rivals no opportunity to creep up on them.

The Boston Americans, by virtue of their strength in the box, took both games of a double header from the Chicago White Sox and the Cubs. In the first game, the Sox were defeated by a hard-fought thirteen-inning battle, while Brooklyn defeated St. Louis and Boston nosed out a lead of four games. The Phillies retain a comfortable lead in the National League. The Phillies have not lost a game since they suffered their recent severe setback at the hands of the Superbas at Brooklyn, while the Superbas and the Braves have been vacillating between second and third places without either being able to make an appreciable gain on the other.

The Phillies have played consistent baseball throughout the season, retaining the lead except for the month when Chicago was on top. Any lead the comfortable leads they now have, Philadelphia fans are confident that part of the world's series will be played in their city. Philadelphia has four games to play with Brooklyn and four with Boston and these two series are expected definitely to decide the race.

The Boston Americans, who a week ago were only a game ahead of the Tigers, after suffering a temporary slump, seem to have struck their gait again, and although the Tigers continue to win most of their games, the Red Sox have widened the breach between the two teams.

England can get no more physically fit fighting men than the oarsmen that Canada is sending to the world's new indoor rowing club of Toronto, world's champion single sculler.

MORRIS MILLER

Dr. "Buck" Wharton is training these Penn men at Fort Deposit, Md. Captain Harris, Pepper, Witherow, Henning, Russell, Borie, Urquhart, Eble, Wray, Miller, Hopkins, Stack, Berry, Murdoch, Welsh, Ross, Quigley, Mathews, Cotwals, Hockstetter, Williams, Dougherty, Lundberg, Tighe and Grant.

In the days of old a ball tosser on receiving his contract, borrowed somebody's carpenter's pencil, expected on it and scrawled his name on the finger-marked document in a jiffy. Nowadays the tosser retains a fleet of lawyers gets advice from the experts of a Baltimore bonding committee, haggles over it three months and then decides not to sign at all.

"I'll win the American league pennant in 1917,"—Connie Mack. Not with the east indulging in bean bag and leap frog around the mircuit of 1915. Not by 1917, not by 1947.

If Tris Speaker was not so slow in striking his gait in batting in the first part of the season he would give the illustrious "Ty" a run for his money in the race for individual honors. He comes like wildfire in the last half of the season.

By becoming the lawn tennis champion for the year, William M. Johnston has made all kinds of trouble for the tennis ranking committees. There have been so many reversals this season in which Johnston, Bear, Peil, Williams and McLoughlin have figured that the picking of the No. 1 to head the American list for the season will be even a more delicate matter than it was a year ago, when, as we can all remember, there was considerable weeping and gnashing of teeth. Johnston's improvement even over the fine form he displayed two seasons ago in the east has been so marked that after all his final victory comes as no surprise. He has attained a more dependable ground stroke game than any of the other men from the Pacific Coast. Pace and impregnable position at the net are other very noteworthy factors in his famous victory.

Sammy Mayer was landed by the Washington team because he refused to work unless he gets paid. Sammy was sent by the Kansas City club of the American Association to the Topeka, Kan., team. He was recalled by Kansas City on July 12. When July 15 pay day rolled around, Sammy was shy pay for three days. He demanded his money. The coin was not forthcoming. When the next pay day, August 1, rolled around Sammy was still shy the stipend for three days from July 12 to July 15. So Mayer decided to accept an offer from the Brooklyn Federals. Before he could play a game with the Brookies someone tipped off Manager Griffith, of Washington, to the facts in the case. Griffith, it is said, acted upon the advice of President Johnson of the American league that the failure to pay Sammy made Eskine's brother a free agent. So Griffith got busy and signed Sammy. Sammy Mayer looks to be a good an outfielder as his brother is a pitcher.

MAYBE you're one of these reformed grinders yourself and know how they like to meet and talk about the little chew that satisfies. When you meet a non-member puddling a big wad in his cheek don't you feel like stopping him and giving him the facts about the Real Tobacco Chew?

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR W-B CUT CHEWING TOBACCO. IT IS THE NEW "REAL TOBACCO CHEW"—CUT LONG SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of chewing tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

WEATHER FORECAST.

THE COST OF WAR.
The war which has raged in the world for more than a year has been fought to large extent, at long range. It has been a war of artillery, rather than of small arms and the range has varied from one to twenty miles. A recent visitor, in discussing the expense of this kind of warfare, uses the navy as a standard and says: "It costs England close to $2,000 every time she fires one of the big guns of the superdreadnoughts of her navy. The figure is much above the normal cost because of the increased price of England is paying for shells and powder in this country."

Private manufacturers of munitions of war in this country are understood to be charging the British War Office about $500 for the 15 inch Lyddite shell which is used in her big naval guns. That is far above the price at which shells can be made by government works. The high price is due, of course, to the urgency of demand and the necessity of increased expenditure by private manufacturers in the United States in order to get their plants in shape to handle war orders.

The 14-inch shell of the American navy, a shell similar to the British 15-inch shell, cost this Government about $250 to make at its own plants. That gives an idea of the increased price named by private makers here to the British.

The United States Government figures cost of powder bought from private manufacturers at about 33 cents a pound, and the United States can make powder at its own mills at a much lower price. Certain private powder companies claim they can make smokeless at less than 30 cents a pound. The price of smokeless in foreign countries now buying it here is $1 a pound, and in some instances as high as $1.20 a pound has been named.

The powder charge needed for the 15-inch shell of the British Navy is costing about $400, making a total cost of $650 for shell and powder alone.

The life of the gun is the big item to be considered in arriving at the cost of each shot. Naval experts differ in their ideas as to how long a gun can be used. Its usefulness is placed at 15 years by some; others place it as low as 60; 75 appears to be the consensus of opinion as to the average. When the gun has been used long, it has to be replaced.

Because of the urgency of the world figure in the replacement price of the gun in each shot. As one of the big guns is worth roughly $75,000, then $1,000 additional must be added to the cost of each firing, or a total of approximately $2,000 a shot.

To fire a 14-inch gun the United States spends about $450-$500 for the shell and $200 for the powder charge, figured at the cost of manufacture in Government plants. To that has to be added the cost of gun depreciation, which theoretically would be the same as in the English gun.

The 14-inch gun of the American navy costs $65,000. The cost of the mount is $55,000, or a total of $120,000.

The weight of that gun with its yoke is close to 150,000 pounds. The shell weighs 1,400 pounds, against 2,200 for the British 15-inch Lyddite shell. The powder charge needed for the 14-inch gun weighs 450 pounds.

The five inch rifle of the United States navy weighs 11,500 pounds; its shell, 30 pounds and the powder charge close to 50 pounds.

But the cost of ammunition and guns is only a part of the expense. The big loss is the destruction or sinking of a ship. Of the present day first line battleships is worth $15,000,000. The second line ships are not much less expensive. Even though a ship is not sunk it usually suffers heavy damage in a serious fight, damage that requires overhauling at a cost of a large amount of money.

Replacement of armor plate for instance is expensive. Armour plate costs $430 a ton, and there are 5,000 tons of it in a modern warship, or about $2,150,000 worth.

Specially treated steel, of which there are 2,700 tons used in the construction of the modern fighting ship, costs $250 a ton. That steel in a battleship costs therefore $675,000.

Each modern battleship carries a main battery of twelve big guns, usually 14-inch or 15-inch. In addition each ship has the latest type guns, 21 or 22 smaller guns, usually 5-inch, rapid fire weapons as a secondary battery, with auxiliary batteries of six-pounders and 3-inch field pieces. The modern ships are also carrying two or three aeroplane guns.

"The maximum effective range of the 14-inch rifle is 13 miles. The initial velocity is 26,000 feet a second. The shell will pierce 16 inches of Krupp armor at a distance of five and a half miles."

"With a score or more of first line battleships blazing away with broadsides in a big fight, it is obvious that the cost of the 'fireworks' is going to mount rapidly into the millions."

CIRCUMSPECTION.

"My boy," said the editor of the Janesville Bugle to the new reporter, "you lack caution. You must learn not to state things as facts until they are proved facts—otherwise you are very apt to get us into libel suits. Do not say, 'the cashier who stole the funds'; say, 'the cashier who is alleged to have stolen the funds.' That's all now, and—turn in a stick! about that Second Ward social last night."

Owing to an influx of visitors it was late in the afternoon before the genial editor of the Bugle caught a glimpse of the great family daily. Half way down the social column his eyes lit on the following cautions paragraph: "It is rumored that a card party was given last evening to a number of reputed ladies of the Second Ward. Mrs. Smith, gossip says, was the hostess, and the festivities are reported to have continued until 10:30 in the evening. It is alleged that the affair was a social function given to the ladies of the Second Ward Club, and that, with the exception of Mrs. James Billwiger, who says she comes from Leavitt Junction, none but members were present. The reputed hostess insists that coffee and water, along with refreshments, were served."

The Smith woman claims to be the wife of John Smith, the so-called "Honest Shoe Man" of 315 East State street. Shortly afterward a whirling mass, claiming to be a reporter on the Bugle, flew fifteen feet into the street, and landed with what bystanders asport was a dull, sickening thud—Puck.

CLEAN UP.
The eradication of filth is an part the duty of every citizen, and each should see that his own surroundings are in satisfactory condition. He should guard against carelessness in the maintenance and preparation of food and withhold his patronage from those who disregard the rules of cleanliness, remembering that the foods which are most subject to contamination are milk and its products, oysters and vegetables. The role of flies in the dissemination of the infection is now generally recognized. The elimination of such fly-breeding places as garbage, manure and filth is most essential, but the proper screening of houses and the adoption of destructive measures also are of great prophylactic value. If, in spite of these precautions, the disease develops, it then becomes the duty of every citizen to implicitly follow the instructions given in order that the safety of others may not be imperiled, bearing in mind the fact that every case of typhoid fever is due to someone's ignorance or carelessness. No higher duty of citizenship than this can be conceived.

This wholesome advice comes from the public health service, and is timely, because the typhoid season is at hand. It is estimated that 200,000 cases, with 18,000 deaths, are victims of this annual scourge. When sanitary conditions are right, typhoid is unknown. This means that responsibility rests with every home and community and it is well to clean up and keep clean.

There is a limit to endurance and the state had passed the limit when it elected Governor Philipp and his associates. While the administration has not accomplished all that was expected, it made a good beginning in reforming the reformers. Some of the hold over senators should be retired to private life, and the next legislature should be a unit in supporting a governor committed to economy and efficiency. Governor Philipp lacked the support to which he was entitled, and the people are responsible for the kind of material furnished.

That the automobile has come to stay, is no longer a debatable question. All standard manufacturers are flooded with orders and still the demand keeps up. Almost every farmer in Kansas has a machine, and Wisconsin farmers are rapidly coming to the front as buyers. They are more of a necessity today than a luxury. They save the horse from road work and keep the wife and children good natured. Buy a car and be happy.

This has been the one year without a summer and yet the country has not suffered materially, except in localities not sufficiently large to effect the market. The wheat crop is the largest in the history of the country and the crop of barley and oats is not far behind, while corn is working overtime to catch up. The nation will have occasion to rejoice at Thanksgiving time.

One of the novel features of the Indiana State Fair was the starting of an automobile by a wireless electric spark from a plant five miles away. Some one suggests that from the amount of sparking seen on the country roads, on a summer evening, that it might be possible to dispense with the crank.

The state will miss Mr. Adams of "go out and get the moon fame," but it will be a sort of good loss. He has too many talents to hide under a tax bushel, and the schools can use him to good advantage.
